HOTEL ASSOCIATION CONTINUES TO FIGHT PARKING METER ISSUE

The parking meter controversy at Virginia Beach seems to have quieted down to some degree in that a referendum was ruled out. However, members of the Hotel Association are not satisfied with the fact that council members voted to continue their operation. With this feeling uppermost with the Hotel Association the following letter was sent to Roy Smith, Town Attorney, by Gerald Rumble, attorney representing the association:

Roy Smith, Esq., Town Attorney
Virginia Beach, Virginia

Dear Roy:

Following our conference, as requested by you at your office June 11th, I communicated the substance of the same to the president of Virginia Beach Hotel Association, Inc. He then called a special meeting of the directors and membership, which was held on Thursday evening, June 12th.

At this meeting a Special Committee was appointed to make a study of physical conditions and recommend what, if any, areas might be designated as guest loading and unloading zones (with limited stopping privileges in each instance and for the purpose stated) to adequately serve the needs of Beach Hotels in that respect.

It seemed clear to the Committee that popular resentment against any parking meters what ever at Virginia Beach has become even more acute and widespread since the public meetings before the Council. With merchants, business and professional men and private citizens in such preponderating numbers feeling that the welfare of themselves and their community demands immediate removal of all parking meters, the Hotel Association felt that its members could not permit their individual needs to be considered at a possible hazard to the best interests of Virginia Beach as a whole.

The Council of the Town of Virginia Beach expressed itself as desiring an accurate poll of public sentiment on the parking meter question and the willingness to be governed by the wishes of the majority.

Such a poll of sentiment could be quickly and easily arranged, requiring neither authority of Court or other prescribed formalities to initiate it. If conducted under the machinery and general principles of elections, with both sides represented equally among officials in charge, the people could register their choice on this issue. If a real and accurate expression of popular opinion is desired, then it assuredly can be obtained through the age-old principle of "where there's a will there's a way".

Sincerely,
Gerould M. Rumble

In absence of a reply from Mr. Smith a meeting was held consisting of Councilmen, Holt, Hixson and McClannan of the Street Committee and Hotel operators James Guzy, Mrs. Traflet, Miss Leggett, Wesley Gardner and Owen Moore to attempt to arrive at a solution to the meter problem which would be agreeable to all parties concerned.

At the suggestion of a member of the group, but not of the hotel representatives, it was decided to propose to the Council at regular meeting Monday July 7, that the Town furnish stickers for wind shields for use by hotel guests granting them free parking at all times East of Atlantic Avenue.

Pat Mann Plays Marine Garden

Pat Mann and his rhythmic orchestra is now playing nightly at the Marine Garden at Casino Park according to Frank D. Shean, operator, having booked the orchestra from a long list of available bands.

The popular band leader is not new to Virginia Beach having played with his number of top flight bands before organizing his own. He starts his second week over the July Fourth holiday at Marine Garden after ending a nine weeks stay at Myrtle Beach, S. C. The band plays nightly from 9 p.m. to closing in the Ocean Front Ballroom.

Jack Grant Trio At Dunes Club

The Jack Grant Trio playing at the Dunes Club this season, features George Strasser on the accordion, Bob Rolander on the guitar and Jack Grant on the string bass.

Strasser, the feature tenor vocalist, sings the ballad numbers and Rolander sings some of the rhythm and novelty numbers.

A special feature of the trio is to mingle among the guests singing and playing request numbers. The Trio has been playing together in engagements all over the country for the past three years and expects to remain at the Dunes Club for the season, playing nightly except Tuesday.

State Officers Nip Beach and County Game Operators

Thirty-two arrests were made Friday night at night clubs, concessions and gaming booths in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach. Several weeks ago Mayor H. Warfield Leeke ordered Police Chief Hobeck to clean out gambling at the Beach. Although Beach police had given this order, they had no part in the recent raids, the State police officers and ABC inspectors made the arrests.

Thirty-five members of the State police force and three members of the ABC staff visited the Piney Point Boat Club, at Virginia Beach, where a large quantity of whiskey was taken, and also seized gambling paraphernalia at the Dunes Club at the Beach and at the Admiral Club in Princess Anne County. Approximately $3,500 was confiscated at the Admiral Club.

Capt. R. H. Holland commanding the Norfolk district of State Police said his men and the ABC agents in plainclothes, conducted investigations at a number of places in addition to carrying out the raids on the three establishments.

Arrests were confined to the clubs early Friday, Captain Holland reported, but the 32 which followed the next night resulted from the same general investigation, extending into both swanky and small time spots where gambling had been reported.

Charges were placed against 26 persons at "Fortune" on fourth street and Atlantic Ave., operators of Seaside Park and "Bingo". Several operators at New Casino Park were also placed under bond.

Chesapeake and Potomac Expands Telephone Service

The Board of Directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia last week approved expenditures amounting to approximately $2,800, 000 for the construction and expansion of telephone facilities throughout the state.

The Board's action brings the total authorized to date for expenditure this year to $21,199,000.

The major portion of the approved expenditures, $1,953,000, will be spent for routine construction, replacement and removal of telephone plant in Virginia during the third quarter of 1947.

The total expenditures approved by the Directors are part of the company's sixty million dollar expansion and improvement program now under way throughout the state.

Beach Theatre Opens, Host To Capacity Crowd Tuesday Night

Hobeck Resigns As County Chief; Mapp Appointed

Judge Floyd E. Kellam, who last year reappointed Clarence E. Hobeck Chief of Princess Anne County Police along with his position as chief of the Virginia Beach Police force, now announces his resignation as County Police Chief effective July 1.

Hobeck explained his resignation by saying he felt the duties of the combined jobs were too heavy to do justice to both and his resignation from the county office would enable him to devote all his time to Virginia Beach affairs.

Judge Floyd E. Kellam, who announced Chief Hobeck's resignation, has appointed Ivan D. Mapp to fill the position vacated by Hobeck.

Mapp formerly with the State Police for a period of four years has served as clerk of the trial justice court of Princess Anne County and for the past year has been bailiff of the court.

Judge Kellam also announced reappointment for the term beginning July 1 of the following county officers:

J. E. Moore, Muscoe Taylor, J. L. Whitehurst, A. L. Godfrey, H. E. Belcher, C. W. Simons and C. W. Shirley.

Publicity manager for the Area, introduced the speakers for the evening which included Mr. W. F. Crockett, Mr. David Pender, (owners) Mr. Moton Thalheimer owner of several Richmond theaters, Elmer Wilsche, representative of the Alto Lansing Service Corp., the architects and contractors who planned and built the building. Mayor H. Warfield Leeke addressed the assembly and offered his congratulations to Mr. Crockett and Mr. Pender.

Claude Jarman, Jr." and another from Clarence Brown: "We of THE YEARLING feel honored that the president of the Virginia Motion Picture Association should have picked THE YEARLING to open the Beach Theatre. Our sincere thanks. Clarence Brown." Other wires carried such names as Bing Crosby, Gregory Peck, Van Johnson, Jane Wyman, Gail Russell, Loretta Young, and many others.

Lions Club To Award Prizes On Saturday, July 5th

The current drive by members of the Virginia Beach Lions Club to secure funds for their main charity work, that of supplying glasses and eye examinations for needy children in Princess Anne County, is nearing the end.

Saturday night, July 5, prizes will be given to lucky winners.

The major prize will be a Chrysler. Other prizes will consist of a Kelvinator refrigerator, a Frigidaire, electric range, a Eureka vacuum cleaner and a Bendix radio.

The prizes will be awarded following a softball game between the Lions' Club's softball team, winners of the league championship last year, and the Portsmouth Moose's team, runners-up in the State championship softball tournament last year. The game will be played on the Virginia Beach playground ball park.

Since the inauguration of the Virginia Beach Lions' Club 14 years ago one of the benevolent projects of the club has been that of providing adequate vision corrections for the needy children of the county. Another of their benevolences includes a civic improvement project, selected each year. A portion of the funds derived from the current subscription campaign will be used to provide a fence for the playground to prevent children from running thoughtlessly into the street, according to Horace B. Sammons, president of the Club.

Morris Abernathy is chairman of the committee heading the current fund-raising campaign.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Kramer and son Michael of Chillicothe, Ohio, are among the guests registered at Albemarle Hall where they are spending a vacation.

HIGH PRICE TAGS

The argument over the causes and cures of commodity price inflation has degenerated into a back-passing contest. Labor puts the blame on capital and capital blames labor. Various segments of business blame other segments of business. Government officials, stock industry, and industry counter-attacks in turn. And a good many consumers seem to feel everyone save themselves is at fault.

The truth is that the guilt must be shared by all elements in the American economy. And the cure, if there is to be one, can be achieved only by unified attack on the fundamental forces that push prices up—and the value of the dollar down.

First of all, prodigal government is a very strong inflationary influence. The terrible burden of debt the country now has makes this danger infinitely greater than it ever was before. We must put our fiscal house in order.

The productivity of labor is all important. A basic reason for high prices is that output per man in producing industry has gone down—while wages have gone up. This philosophy of more money for less work is one of the best friends inflation has.

The attempt of some businesses to earn excessive profits comes into the same category. It is an inexcusable form of consumer exploitation. Fortunately, it is gradually being corrected as competition becomes more intense.

The type of prodigal buyer who will pay anything for what he wants made the black market in the past—and is a dangerous influence still. However, the easy money seems to be running out, which is a blessing to the country.

These factors contribute to the high price tags you see on goods in stores. They indicate why efforts of retailers to reduce prices cannot produce much in the way of results under present conditions. Reform must begin at the source—and until that happens the price problem will loom large.

HONEYMOON DAYS OVER

J. E. Jones

The honeymoon between President Truman and Congress appears to have broken down. The President has been working for the United States of America from now on he will ride the Democratic donkey.

President Truman told Congress that it passed "the wrong kind of tax reduction bill at the wrong time." He explained his veto on the ground that the Republican four-billion dollar tax cut was "unsafe" from the standpoint of Government finances. He licked Congress when his veto was sustained by the Lower House.

The age-old feud and fight between the Republican and Democratic parties has been re-opened and the Democrats have won the "first inning" for President Truman. He will be their candidate for President in the 1948 election.

Under the new shift-of-scenery, watch out for quick-turns by labor union bosses, who think they have regained the backing of the Democratic party. Maybe so!

JOCKEYING WITH RENT CONTROLS

The Lower House of Congress has given approval to a fantastic bill extending rent control until next March, but permitting only 15 per cent increases if passed. If tenants "voluntarily" agree to pay the boost, leases will be extended through 1948. Thus, a thoroughly bad bill has been put on the way and the chances are that the Senate will not consent.

LABOR AND THE FUTURE

Labor has a change now to re-establish itself in public esteem—and to demonstrate that great power involves great public responsibility.

The idea that the interests of capital and labor are inimical is both wrong and ruinous. Labor wants high wages—and to pay them business must earn fair profits. Labor wants a high standard of living—and to have that it must produce efficiently so that reasonably-priced goods become abundant. Labor wants an important place in the councils of the nation—and it must earn that by proving its interest in the national welfare.

The best and most aggressive unions the country has known have fought militantly for benefits for their members—and, at the same time, they have cooperated with business to maintain and broaden markets, to get the rest of the people do not. The future strength of the American labor movement will depend upon its acceptance of such principles as these.

THE SMALL RETAILER

What chance has the independent retailer to compete with the chains and hold his own? That old question was recently given a modern answer by Wade G. McCargo, who described himself as a small retailer from Richmond, Va., in a speech at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"After the first world war," he said, "the prophets of doom told us we were going to be put out of business by the chains and big stores. Throughout the years, this prophesy has been repeated. I don't believe it. I know I am going to have to work harder in the months and years to come, but I repeat, the small retailer has a very definite place in our American Life, so don't blame the retailer!"

READING & WRITING

BY Robin McKim

respect but not with panic.

The scientists on the Manhattan Project were generally known as the bughairs, says Mr. Hecht. One consultant for the atomic bomb project began to make regular visits to the barber and to take them very seriously. He explained that as a professor his hair made little difference to himself or his colleagues, but when he had to deal with Army men, he insisted that at least the physical excuse for being called a bughair should be absent.

This year the Book-of-the-Month Club has selected a special book as a "mid-summer" choice for vacation reading. It is "The Moneyman," a historical novel by Thomas B. Costain, and it will be distributed midway between the July and August books-of-the-month.

READ HECHE!

Calumet, Iowa, says Homer Croy in "Corn Country," has a unique holiday "Pancake Day." It is held in September and is sponsored by companies who manufacture pancake flour. They send cooks who give their art everything they have. There are great golden mounds of cakes and beside them, pitchers of thick syrup, all served free of charge. Once a man sets twenty-one plates of cakes. He is still living.

American economy and will remain and prosper if he is willing to work hard enough and is flexible in his thinking, willing to adopt the new methods as they prove themselves to be worthwhile, and carry on a real mass business. Many retailers blame the chains for failure when the fault rests to their own doorstep: their unwillingness to meet changing times and conditions."

Independent merchants do the majority of the retail business of this country—and the proportion of business done by independents and the chains has tended to hold remarkably constant. This simply means that the independents, most of whom have relatively small stores, give their customers the kind of service that keeps them coming back. Far from dying in the face of chain store competition, they have met it, and advanced. There is a place in this country for every kind and size of business—and the progressive small retailer has an assured and profitable position.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURING INTERIORS

Interiors are not difficult to take. Why not make a picture of your interior's favorite lounging spot and have an extra print made to send along to him.

AMATEURS are doing an excellent job of keeping those in the Service supplied with snapshots from home. Most of these pictures, however, are shots of the family, relatives or friends. That is fine. But the boys and girls also like to receive pictures that show themselves in their homes where they lived before going into the Service. To complete the story, then, you should take some shots of home interiors.

Under ordinary conditions flood or flash lamps would be used for illumination in taking pictures of home interiors but, as it is quite difficult to buy these lamps, due to their scarcity, you might as well use a simpler method.

Without the aid of flash or flood lamps it is better to rely entirely upon daylight coming through the windows, and supplement it where necessary with a reflector. For instance, if a room has a rather dark corner, you can usually brighten the corner by having someone stand just outside the camera range and hold a large white cloth, or piece of cardboard, so that it throws the light in that direction. Or, better still, you might use a 100-watt or 200-watt home-type light in an inexpensive reflector or bridge lamp.

Preparation for interior pictures depends upon the illumination, type of film, lens aperture, and the general characteristics of the room. A room containing dark carpets, hangings, and woodwork will require a longer exposure than one which is generally light in tone. For an interior with medium colored walls and furnishings and two windows, make an exposure of four to five seconds. If you are using very fast film... and the sun is shining... with the lens aperture set at f/16. With slower type film the exposure time should be doubled.

One important thing is to get pictures that show the room as Corp. Bill knew it when he went into the Service. So, as far as possible leave the furniture in its usual place. You probably won't be able to include the whole room in your picture but you can get parts of it with each picture you snap.

Whenever possible leave enough clear space between the lens and the nearest piece of furniture, so that nothing but the floor can be seen in the immediate foreground. The reason for this is that any object which is very close to the camera will appear unduly large in comparison with other objects that are further away. For example, when you're making a time exposure, you must have a firm support for your camera. A tripod is the best bet because it can be set for different heights and is easily moved from one position to another. A small table, however, will serve the purpose.

Space will not permit going into further details regarding interior pictures but you will find photographic books at drug stores and in libraries which will help you.

Give those in the Service a lift by sending pictures of home interiors.

You know how I feel about women's hats!

"I'm draped on number 3 stool at Doc Carrol's drugstore, sipping a milk shake and minding my own business, which is very sound procedure, indeed, when this cloud of feathers blows out of the revolving door.

Now feathers in a milk shake I don't like. So I stop the door with a number 12 oxford, and out fall these two strange birds and a strong-voiced chick. They're all shouting at once, so I get them up to sofas and give an ear.

"It's women's hats," says the one with the kingly lower lip. "These birds don't know that the size of the bill tells whether a hat's a bargain or not."

"That chin-horne fish bowl of his has warped his mind," breaks in the ostrich. "I judge a bargain by how far down the price has gone." And he swallows to emphasize his point.

"You boys are out of your depth," cackles the chick. "Any woman knows a bargain is what you get for what you pay. Am I right, Charlie?"

"On women's hats, no comment," I reply, side-stepping. "But you're all three right if you think of the bargain everybody gets in electric service."

"When the movies were still silent, you got only about half as much electricity for your money as you get today—so your bill says BARGAIN every month."

"But Ossie's right, too. While the price of most everything else has gone up, the price of electricity has come down."

"And another angle—score this one for the chick. What you get today is the most and the best electric service in this peace-torn world. And for that you can thank the business sense and the common sense of the people who built and manage the electric companies."

"Egg-sactly!" chirps the chick, who naturally has to have the last word.

Hostess Hints

Sugar bowl blues got the family sweet tooth crying? Dessert them with raisins and save the precious sweet. Grind together 1/4 lb. seedless raisins, 1/2 lb. pitted dates, 1 cup chopped nuts, 4 graham crackers. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup honey, mix well; roll into long roll, slice crosswise; form into balls; coat in 1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs.
Novel and nice with milk or coffee.

Do ravenous urchins raid your refrigerator after school? Re-stoke their energy, protect supper staples, by tossing together some sandwich snackings before they get home.
Grind 1 oz. (1/4 cup) grated American cheese and 1/4 cup dried beef, washed, through food chopper. Add 1/4 cup tomato sauce and cook in double boiler until cheese is melted.
Add to 1 beaten egg and 1/2 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard. Cook 3 minutes longer over water. Cool before serving.

Shorten Saturday baking, assure sweetness, fast-fortify your family's energy by patting raisins in these sweeties. Cream 1 cup shortening.
Add 1 cup sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, gradually, creaming thoroughly. Add 3 eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after addition of each. Sift together 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add gradually to creamed mixture. Chill dough before rolling. Divide into 3 portions. Roll on floured board
1/4 inch thickness. Spread with Raisin-Date Filling (recipe below) and roll like a jelly roll. Wrap 3 portions in waxed paper. Store in refrigerator 3-4 hours or until ready to bake. Slice. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 10 to 15 minutes. Yields 4 dozen. Raisin-Date Filling: Grind together 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup pitted dates, 1 cup nuts. Combine with 1/2 cup water and 1/2 cup sugar. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is melted.
Cool. Spread on dough.

If Saturday's chores have you worn to a frazzle, save time, bake trimmings on cakes as you go along.
Make upside-down topping of raisins and crushed orange slices set in melted shortening and honey.

Caught short for a supper suggestion? Let eggs pinch-hit as main dish provender. Combine in medium sized frying pan one 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup, un-diluted, and 1/2 cup milk. Break 6 eggs, one at a time, into a saucer and add to simmering soup. Cover.
When eggs have reached desired firmness, 5 to 6 minutes, place on 6 slices toasted bread. Add a little of the soup. Salt to taste and garnish with chopped parsley or chives.
Serves 6.

Fish chowder for the choosy is composed of mushroom soup, asparagus soup, and crabmeat. Combine one 11-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup, diluted with equal quantity of water, one 11-oz. can condensed cream of asparagus soup, diluted with an equal quantity of water, and one 6 1/2-oz. can crabmeat or 1 1/2 cups fresh crab-meat, flaked, then heat slowly to boiling point. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Bottom-of-the-barrel apples need extra savor in the springtime. Stuff core cavities with raisins and ad-diced raisins before baking.

Pete Johnson Gets 20$ Reward From Navy Man at Park

Pete (Pete) Johnson, Loop-
-place forman, at Casino Park is indeed happy having received twenty dollars from Sailor C.
Steidler by the USS Carrier Midway who lost his pocket book containing $125.00 while riding on the thrill amusement ride.
Steidler having been at sea for the past two months came ashore to have some fun and while in a plane roll at the park lost his money and identification folder.
Out of his belt, Johnson found the wallet and returned it to Miss B.
Covall, Office manager of Casino Park, who in turn, through the Navy Shore Patrol located Sailor Steidler and returned the wallet and money. Steidler immediately gave Johnson, who is also a member of the local Naval Reserve, the twenty dollar reward saying, "You're what we call a finder."

UNLESS WE WORK

Bernard M. Baruch, one of the great Elder Statesmen of America, recently gave his countrymen some wise advice.

The world, he said, "can get going only if men work," and "if we accept the challenge to preserve civilization, it means greater effort than that exerted during the war." He pointed to the pressing need for maximum production, with no strikes and no layoffs, in the future. And then he said: "Unless we work, we shall see a vast inflation. Unless we work, we shall not be able to maintain our claim to power. That would be the greatest blow we could receive, for it would strip us of our strength to preserve our way of life."

We have sought for an easy way to do things—and we have found that no such way exists. We have wanted luxury, but we have not wanted to labor to earn it. Our whole philosophy of life has been the suicidal one of asking more and giving less. Capital, labor, agriculture, the consumer—this indictment fits large segments of them all.

No country has ever undergone a great inflation and kept its institutions free. No country has ever turned to government to

Japanes Beetles
Threaten Area

Fred Heutte, Superintendent of Norfolk parks and gardens, has been appointed chairman of a steering committee which is expected to convene within a week or two to perfect plans for fighting the Japanese beetle which seems to be making steady inroads in the station. A co-operative movement designed to wipe out the beetle had its beginning last week at the Virginia Truck Experimental Station where a group of officials most concerned met to plan a long range campaign which may take up to five years to complete. H. W. Olin, Princess Anne County Agent will serve on the committee with representatives from garden clubs, sanitation inspectors, nurseries, insecticide dealers and others whose activities are affected by the inroad of the beetle.

Heutte stated that the first step in the beetle checking campaign will be to map areas in which the pests are heavily concentrated and from this map lay plans for spore dust treatment to attack the grubs.

In reporting the concentrations Heutte asked that the land owners inform him by mail and not telephone. At the same time he asked that those reporting indicate their willingness to pay a nominal charge for the purchase of the spore dust to treat their land. "Once a year has been treated, it is treated forever," he

AMERAGRAPHS

PERFECT HOUSEWIFE Jean Edwards, lovely singing star, is a picture of domestic bliss, the picture of her entire family on the Time-Saver Pressure Cooker Menu, Jacques Traub, President of Traub Products, Inc. R. M. Mueser, advertising executive, and Miss Edwards are shown in the living room of her Manhattan apartment when she was selected by the Perfect Housewife Institute as one of the most perfect housewives in the entertainment field.

OPERA SINGER'S HER CAT... Barton, John Bauer of the Metropolitan Opera Association has just run his the record of 33 appearances with the Met during the season just ended, which means that there is plenty of long-haired must around the Baker man. But, much to his amusement, Mr. Bauer found that while his Samson cat was quite while he himself was still around the house, the feline simply dived with delight whenever Greasy was heard on the radio or on recordings. So, when the question of a name came up, the cat was naturally named Bing.

RE FOR COMPLEXION CARE... Something special has been done to help too-dry skins, sensitive, scaling skins and the girls with stinging that make them allergy sufferers. A complete line of cosmetics, appropriately named Ar-Ra Cosmetics, has been formulated by chemists in collaboration with dermatologists and rich in essential ingredients.

stated, adding that the small cost would be far offset by the saving to gardens grass and flowers.
New Jersey Results

Optimism over eventual success of the campaign pervaded the meeting after Dr. I. M. Hawley entomologist for the U. S. Department of Commerce, told of several years of research in heavily infested New Jersey, spent in spreading the "milky disease" among the Japanese beetle family and resulting in practical elimination of the pest.

Heutte, in explaining that the spore dust sprinkled over breeding spots infects the beetles and grub with the disease, warned that the effects will not be noticeable for two or more years.

He urged householders and others employing prescribed DDT sprays in attacking the beetle to continue their efforts, which he added are helpful in the overall program.

NO ACCIDENTS MAR HOLIDAY AMONG CAPACITY CROWDS HERE

A three day holiday and perfect beach weather brought capacity crowds to Virginia Beach to overflow every hotel, rooming house and available sleeping room in the vicinity of the town. Cots were placed in lobbies and hallways and boys put up cots in garages where there was available space.

At the Norfolk Southern Bus station the dispatchers claimed the largest crowd being transported in any year since the war. There was no effort to maintain a regular schedule. Buses were loaded and dispatched as fast as equipment was available. From early morning to late evening capacity loads were hauled to & from Virginia Beach and Ocean View.

In contrast with a generation ago there were no firecrackers. However, the excessive run on the ABC stores assured enough "good fellowship" not to miss the visible fireworks.

No Accidents at Beach

Caution seemed to be the byword for at Virginia Beach no accidents of consequence were reported. The Beach Patrol and Life Guards were on the alert and no water accidents were reported among the thousands who enjoyed the beach and water. Soft Ball Game

Residents Object Newsreel Taking, Summon Police

Photographers from MGM and FOX Studios in New York were at Virginia Beach Sunday and Monday, July 6 and 7 for the express purpose of taking movies of the water skiing exhibition on the ocean side of Virginia Beach in which the ski artists were pulled by an automobile driven along the sand.

Through the courtesy of the men of the Virginia Beach Coast Guard station the photographers were taken off shore in the Coast Guard "duck" in order to secure unobstructed movies of the events.

This is the publicity which Virginia could not buy and should be welcomed by every one in the community. As far as could be ascertained this is the only place on the Eastern Seacoast where this novel feature has been tried.

The movie studios in New York, learning of the exhibits, sent camera men to the scene. However it is understood that these gentlemen were most ungrateful received by residents of the locality where the films were being made, local police were called to the scene with threats of arrest if the activities persisted. Rufus Knight, manager of the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club, which has been putting on skiing exhibitions for several weeks, realizing the advantage to the Beach which could be gained by the moving pictures, encouraged the photographers to continue their efforts in face of adverse conditions. These men spent five hours taking pictures at Virginia Beach in an endeavor to secure good films for their studios.

Conductor: David Kenneth Brown will head the band of approximately 25 Norfolk musicians all members of Local 125, American Federation of Musicians. The concert will be played from a specially constructed platform at Seventeenth St. and the Ocean Front. The concert will be open to the public.

Following is the program for Sunday's concert as released by Conductor Brown:

Pen American Novgity — Romeo
Fet — Peasant Overture — Suppe
On the Mail March — Goldmin

20 Years Ago —

From the files of the "Virginia Beach Weekly" twenty years ago: Original Contract For Ocean Canal Walkway Signed By Council

The Town Council of Virginia Beach cast a unanimous vote authorizing Mayor W. R. Ashburn to sign the original agreement with Haycox & Co., of Norfolk, providing for the construction of the 2 mile seawall and promenade.

The R. H. Lee Pace, Columbia Casualty Co. supplied the bond to assure the faithful carrying out of the promenade construction contract by the Haycox Co. Richard T. Crane, of Westover anchored his yacht off the hotel Cavalier and he and his family came ashore in a small boat.

Mr. Crane donated the Cavalier golf course for use of the hotel guests. It was his intention at that time to develop Birdneck Point "as a site for homes and country estates".

10 Years Ago —

Federal Government grants $16,420 to extend bulkhead from end of boardwalk (35th St.) to 40th Street. The total cost was to be $34,000. The Town was to finance the balance by money advanced by local residents to cover the Town's contribution, and that amount to be returned in annual installments over a specified period of years.

Bathers were warned of a $2.50 fine for appearing West of the ocean walkway "wearing shirtless bathing suits and other possibly inoffensive swimming garments by both men and women".

C. C. of C. refused to assume the umbrella franchise on beach and also decided to play "hands off" on all controversial issues facing the Town.

$501,650 Budget Received By Town Council

Robert Dale Martin Selected By Paul Green As Narrator For Common Glory

Robert Dale Martin, Broadway star, producer, radio announcer and veteran of the Solomons, Marianas, Philippines and Okinawa campaigns, who survived the torpedoing of the St. Louis in Kula Gulf, has been selected by Paul Green, author of Virginia's historical drama, "The Common Glory", as narrator for the drama which is to open on July 17th at the Matoka Lake Theatre near Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia and will play nightly except on Mondays through September 14th.

This symphonic drama which depicts America in its infancy has a cast of 125, composed of professional actors augmented by talented Virginia players selected through State-wide casting trials. Choral music will be furnished by a choir of forty matched voices under the direction of Carl A. Fehr. The drama is being staged under the supervision of Mr. Green assisted by technical experts for every phase of its presentation.

Fox Arrested 2nd Time Same Charge

Jimmy Fox, purportedly operator of Piney Point Boat Club, at present free on bond for alleged ABC law violations, was arrested again last week end when Virginia State Police and ABC Board investigators raided the club in the early morning hours.

Several cases of whiskey were seized and four arrests were made.

Besides Fox, the prisoners were booked as Charles Fox, of Virginia Beach; Edwin Stancil of Lynnhaven, and Otis Waters, of the 300 block of West Blue Street. The last named two were said to be bartenders and were charged with illegally selling whiskey. Both Charles and Jimmy Fox were charged with maintaining an establishment where liquor is illegally dispensed.

Piney Point Boat Club was among the establishments raided by State Troopers on June 27. Fox's trail for the first charge has been set for July 11.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kider are visiting Mrs. Kider's parents Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sturgis at their home in Norfolk.

Capacity Crowds Tax Beach Water Supply System

Serious complaints from hotel operators and residents of the Beach about the water pressure over the holiday week end sent Clyde P. Nicholson, Town engineer, into Norfolk for consultation with the Norfolk Water Department.

Virginia Beach receives its water supply from the city of Norfolk on a rate basis and the problem, according to Mr. Nicholson is one of pressure and not of volume. The estimated 75,000 or 80,000 people at the resort over the week end taxed the supply so heavily that less than half the normal pressure could be maintained.

The Virginia Beach water pressure station is located on the Laskin Road and Mr. Nicholson is of the opinion that additional pumping stations may be the solution to the problem. He explained that the water mains to the Beach were shallow laid and there a question as to whether the pipes would stand up under extremely high pressure. About 50 pounds of pressure are built up the booster station but with the abnormal use of the water supply this equipment is not able to maintain a steady pressure. Mr. Nicholson further stated that the City of Norfolk is co-operating splendidly and it is expected that definite results will be felt in the near future.

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Masses on July 13th as usual; 7:30; 9:15; 10:15; and 11:15. Rev. Robert E. O. Kane will address the congregation at 4:30 in the afternoon on the "Legion of Mary", of which he is Diocesan Director.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

E. P. CROCKETT, JR.

E. P. Dixon and Nellie M. Dixon to J. E. Brothers, Lots 30, 32 and western 20 feet of lot 28. Block 48, M6, Va. Beach Development Co. (W. 22nd St.) Tax $2.40.

Maggie G. Godfrey to T. L. Godfrey, Kenilworth Hotel, Ocean Front and 21st Street, Virginia Beach, Tax $9.48.

Major Padus and Ruth Padus to Stephen Andrews, Lot 11, Block 16 map of Shore Acres. (Terrace Ave.) Tax $6.

William H. Pallett and Lillian L. Pallett to Carrie R. Elberding, Lots 33 and 35, Block 16, Map of Shore Acres. (Terrace Ave.) Tax $6.60.

May Gorman Bowden and Henry Bowden, Jr. to Eva Griggs, Lot 14, Block 1, Sect. D, Plat of Cape Henry (Ocean side 124 St.) Tax $2.40.

Elizabeth K. Braithwaite and William Savage Braithwaite, and Joseph W. Cotten, Jr., to Henry A. Bailey and Ellen E. Bailey, Lots 1, 2, and 3, Block M, Sect. F, Plat of Cape Henry. (Corner W. Avenue C.)

With a financial problem facing the Town Council and with realization that much of the collected revenue must go to Princess Anne County the Town Council took initial steps, to remedy the situation.

A community with 5,000 population may seek a charter to become a city of the second class and divorce itself from the county, thereby eliminating the extra tax burden.

Upon recommendation of Mr. Haycox, the motion was unanimously adopted to instruct Judge Kelam to appoint a committee for the purpose of taking a census of the Town. Before the motion was put to a vote Scott Sterling suggested that a certified public accountant be stipulated in the resolutions to the Judge. This suggestion was emphatically seconded by Mayor Leeke and Mr. Smith was authorized to proceed immediately.

Increased Tax Proposed

Continuing the discussion of the financial status of the Town a suggested reassessment of the property as a means of providing additional funds was brought before the members.

W. F. Patton, chairman of the council's finance committee, read the proposed 1947-48 budget for the Town, pointing out that in the event the tax increase was placed too high it could be lowered where if the figures were too low to meet the needs the amount could not be raised. In order to balance the budget Mr. Patton said the committee had recommended a tax of $4.05 for the general fund and $5c for mosquito control, an overall amount of $4.40 against $3.25 as today per $100 valuation, the present rate. The proposed budget as passed on first reading was as follows:

Estimated disbursements listed in the total budget was $501,650. A breakdown of this figure will be found elsewhere in the paper. The budget for 1946-47 was $415,000 with an expected expenditure of $400,000, $15,000 was to be applied to the 1945 deficit.

Mayor Criticizes Minutes

Following the reading of the minutes of previous meetings Mayor H. Warfield Leeke criticized the minutes of June 1 meeting in as much as there was no record of his refusal to vote on the matter of the Planning Commission which had not been placed on the docket prior to the time of meeting. Mayor Leeke stated that the members of the overboard his objection and acted on the appointing of the commission but he would insist on his vote being spread on the minutes as a matter of record. Town Attorney, Roy Smith, when questioned as to the legality of the amendment stated that the decision remained with members of the council. After considerable discussion W. W. McClannan made a motion to accede to Mayor Leeke's request and have the correction made in the minutes May Leeke again insisted that the Town Clerk prepare a docket on Wednesday preceding each council meeting, in order that people of the community will have an opportunity to learn what is coming up at the next regular session. This request, though made some time ago by the Mayor, has not been carried out to date.

Jetties

Stabilizing the sand beach seems to be the major problem confronting the council. Clyde P. Nicholson, Supervising Engineer, stated that recent surveys had been made by US Army engineers in an effort to find a means of checking the serious condition of receding shore lines. Mr. Nicholson said the report was in the hands of the Erosion Board in Washington.

In a very clear and concise manner Mr. Nicholson outlined what in his opinion might be the solution. Jetties extending 300 ft. into the ocean would be placed 600 feet apart; and that the construction of two or three jetties might prove the feasibility of the project. It is understood that the cost of one jetty would be approximately $30,000.

Mass Meeting July 21

No provision was made in the proposed budget for the beach protection project, C. T. Whitehead, a resident of Virginia Beach for over 50 years and a property owner, stated that a group of interested citizens had discussed the proposition of the erosion and that an open meeting would be held in the W.T. Cooke school July 21 for the purpose of further discussing the problem.

South Beach League

Monday, July 21 is the regular day for the meeting of the South Virginia Beach Civic League and Mrs. Klepper, secretary, made the announcement that this organization would give way to the mass meeting inasmuch as the purpose of the called meeting was of such paramount importance to the entire community. She stated that notice would be given when another day was set for the League meeting.

Ordinances

An ordinance regulating a tax on out of Town laundries was asked to be clarified by Mr. Ackis of the Fairfax Laundry, Norfolk. There seemed to be considerable contradiction in the text. This ordinance will be revised for passage at the August meeting. City ordinances were passed on first and second reading regulating ice cream vehicles, coin operated radios, laundry units and fortune telling as well as other hazardous industries.

Humane Officer

The council voted to pay $50 per month to Dr. Schoen as Humane officer for Virginia Beach. Dr. Schoen owns and operates the Pet Hospital in Oceanview.

Hobcock Gets Salary Increase

Councilman Haycox recommended an increase in salary for police chief Clarence Hobcock inasmuch as Hobcock was no longer on the County pay roll and was devoting his entire time to the Virginia Beach Police force. Chief Hobcock will now receive from the town an annual salary of $3,900 as of July 1, 1947.

Planning Commission

The following names were recommended to serve on the Virginia Beach Planning Commission and the council asked G. C. Manson to act as temporary chairman; (besides Mr. Manson R. Lee Pace, Mrs. R. O. Barr, Sr., W. O. Beasley, C. T. Whitehead, Mrs. H. O. Brown, R. L. Simpson, Lewis Dickens; W. F. Patton; A. W. Petty and Clyde Nicholson. The object of this commission is to study the needs of Virginia Beach for future development and recommend plans for its improvement to the council for consideration.

R. A. Jones announced that a special meeting of the council and residents of the community will be held August 11 at 8 p.m. in the council chamber for the purpose of voting on the plan as proposed by the Finance Committee.

MILLIONS FOR VACATIONS

By the end of the year Americans will have spent from $6 to $10 billion, on vacations, the Department of Commerce estimates.

Pleasure loving millions are on the move again. They want to travel and to see things, they want to play out of doors and they intend to do so in great numbers and without more delays "until next year." It is the pioneer call of the trail and of the highways. It is just as beneficial to get away once a year from routine as it is American to have the right to do so.

Virginia Beach has every right to expect its share of these pleasure seekers. These people have every right to expect courtesy, consideration and fair treatment at the hands of every resident of the community and especially from members of our "Law Enforcement Officers." The small, thoughtless, discourteous act toward our visitors are spreading more ill will and adverse publicity than all the paid "bally-hoo" which attempts to build up a tourist trade.

If for no other reason, we feel our commodity should be protected by courses in courtesy and discretion to be given in Police school.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION

Under the present law the Secretary of state is next in line to the President, inasmuch as there is no Vice President. A pending proposal if enacted into law by Congress, would make the Speaker in the House first in line of succession, to be followed by the Senate President Pro Tem. If this law passed, the Secretary of State would not be first in line because he would come after the House and Senate successors.

Senator Wiley of Wisconsin suggests a new addition to the list of successors. He explained that if an Atomic Bomb was dropped on Washington, it would wipe out all of the Cabinet Officers and Members of Congress; therefore, he suggests that top officials in the Army and Navy should be added to the list. The theory is that this would insure a continuance of the Federal Government without any delay.

STATEHOOD FOR HAWAII

The Lower House of Congress has passed a Bill to Grant Statehood to the Hawaiian Islands by a vote of 194 to 134. In all probability, there will be no action in the Senate at this session of Congress.

The issue already in sight in the Senate will include a fight against Statehood on the charge that the CIO is "so firmly entrenched in Hawaii that Phil Murray's organization might send two CIO Senators to Washington. That would never do.

Another matter which will be threshed out is the charge by Congressman Sabbath of Illinois, that big sugar groups control Hawaii's economy. He says that "unfortunate conditions in Hawaii are controlled by that 'big-five', working jointly to control that Island, including the production of sugar and pineapple." He added: "I know they haven't got the interest of the people living there at heart."

Defying the danger of being a "false prophet" this Washington Correspondent believes Hawaii will have to wait a few years longer.

COMMUNISM

Don't minimize the fact that the National Administration and Congress are deeply worried about Communism infiltrating our Government in Washington—just as in has in some localities of the United States.

The FBI is giving a lot of attention to checking on Communists, and J. Edgar Hoover has a list of them that is large—and almost alarming.

When Ed's Crops Failed

Three years ago Ed Smith's last wheat crop failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction.

Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song.

When it was over, and the auctioneer had left, Sam Abernathy turns to Ed and says: "All right, Ed, let's take time out for a little beer, and then put this where it belongs!"

Two hours later, Ed was in possession of his home and furnishings; and the folks who'd paid for them were sitting around Ed's fire enjoying a neighborly glass of beer—to show their friendship and their confidence in Ed.

Today, Ed's back on his feet—another constructive member of the community. And from where I sit, we've all been well repaid—a good investment in a good man.

MARKETING

On warm days, rise before the thermometer does, and you'll shine as a cook without getting all hot and bothered! Just serve dishes you can fix early in the morning and heat up at mealtime. Here are a few that will help you keep cool, calm... and collect compliments:

BEANS AT THEIR BEST

Add 1 tbsp. prepared mustard to 1 can ANN PAGE BEANS WITH PORK SAUSAGE. Sauté 1 medium onion (finely cut) and 1 medium apple (unpeeled and chopped) in 1 tbsp. fat, and mix with beans. Bake in casserole in moderate oven, 375° F., 30 minutes. This recipe makes enough for servings, but ANN PAGE BEANS make you want more... they're so tender and tasty. Better buy a few extra cans next time you're shopping at the A&P.

DANDY FOR "HOT DAYS"

It's never too hot for "hot dogs" at my house. I split them, spread the cut side with mustard, and fill with cubed American cheese. Then I wrap a piece of bacon around each one, fasten with a skewer and broil until the bacon is crisp and the cheese melted. Come roll call, I tucked them into toasted MARVEL FRANKFURTER ROLLS from the A&P, which are so fresh and delicious my family tucks them away by the dozen.

APPETITE BAIT

Fish is so light and digestible I serve it often in summer, varying the sauce like this: To 1 cup of medium white sauce I add a tbsp. of ANN PAGE PREPARED MUSTARD or 4 to 10 sliced BULTANA OLIVES or a tbsp. of ANN PAGE GARDEN DELISH. I always keep these thrifty "pepper-uppers" from the A&P on hand, so I'm never at a loss for a sauce.

ICY AND SPICY

Ice and spice make tea mighty nice... especially when it's as invigorating as the famous, Flavor-Tasted tea sold only at the A&P: OUR OWN NECTAR and MAYFAIR. Try serving one of these fine blends over spiced tea cubes made this way: Add 3 cups briskly boiling water to 1½ cups tea, 1 tbsp. whole cloves and 8 lemon slices. Steep 5 to 6 minutes; strain; add ½ cup orange marmalade. Freeze in ice cube trays, place in 6 glasses and pour freshly made tea over them.

Now! LIFE INSURANCE EXPERTS PROVE THAT FORD TRUCKS LAST UP TO 19.6% LONGER

NOW, for the first time, the methods used by life insurance companies in computing rates have been used to figure out life-expectancy tables for Ford Trucks.

4,967,000 Trucks Studied... Wolfe, Corcoran and Linder, leading New York life insurance actuaries, assembled the records of all trucks of the five sales leaders registered from 1933 through 1941... 4,967,000 trucks in all. Then they prepared truck life-expectancy tables in the same way they prepare human life-expectancy tables for life insurance companies.

Ford Trucks Top! The results? Ford Trucks Last Longer! Up to 19.6% longer than the other 4 sales leaders! Why? Because Ford Trucks are built stronger. They're built to last longer! See us today. You'll see why it'll pay you to place your order for a Ford!

What Longer Trucks Mean to You... Why It Pays to Build for a New Ford Truck!

It stands to reason the longer you use a truck, the less it costs to own. That's why Ford Trucks are the top truck value. And, incidentally, Ford longevities mean lower maintenance costs... less time in the shop. Any way you figure, you'll get more for your money with a Ford... because Ford trucks last longer.

Certified Proof

The life-expectancy of a Ford Truck is 19.6% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).
2.2% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).
7.2% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).
12.2% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).
17.2% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).
19.6% longer than that of "other 4 sales leaders" (other trucks).

BEACH PATROL REQUESTS AID IN KEEPING BEACH CLEANED UP

Several rescues were made by members of the Beach Patrol over the holiday week end and the week end of July 12, according to an announcement by Captain "Dusty" Hinnant.

Captain Hinnant further stated that the beach is feeling the effect of the erosion and occasionally will hit high tide a deep pocket forms several feet from the water line in certain sections of the beach. This deceptive shore line is very dangerous if swimmers are not aware of the sudden drop beyond depth. Coupled with some back wash this can be a hazard and "Dusty" sends out this warning to all swimmers to be cautious. The members of the Beach Patrol are ever on the alert and give warning blasts on their whistles when they see a swimmer venturing beyond a safe zone.

Ferry Rescues Swimmer

In the vicinity of 18th street Clay Perry, a member of the Beach Patrol, rescued a woman swimmer on July 13, who had been caught in this back wash. His alertness brought her to safety without any disastrous results.

Emergency first aid has also been given to several persons suffering from heat prostration, Hinnant continued.

Complete support from Coast Guard, police and fire department of the Beach and local doctors has enabled the Beach Patrol to chalk up a clean record for the season thus far in spite of the largest week end crowds the Beach has enjoyed in many years.

Keep Beach Clean

It is the duty of the Beach Patrol to keep the beach clean. It is against the law to take bottles of any kind on the beach and without the cooperation of users of the beach it is almost an impossibility to keep trash from the sands. Members of the Patrol clean the beach each day before 10 a.m. Their duties as Life Guards prohibit an hourly cleanup. Trash cans are located along the beach and a cooperation in their use is urged by those whose job it is to keep the sands free from unsightly and harmful trash.

Fines & Suspended Sentences Drawn In Trial Court

Fines totaling $3,150 were imposed on eighteen persons including two women, in Princess Anne Trial Justice Court Friday afternoon following their conviction of illegal gambling and violation of the ABC law.

June 26 and 27 State police and ABC agents raided several establishments and testified that they had purchased drinks at the Piney Point Boat Club which were mixed by Phillip Ryan but were sold by another attendant not in the employ of the Club at the time of the trial.

Justice J. Davis Reed, Jr., presiding, imposed a fine of $250 on Jimmie Fox, owner of the boat club for operating a nuisance and $100 and 90-days suspended sentence on Ryan as party to the sale. Stencil, another employee, was dismissed as no evidence was presented showing he had any part in the sale of illegal whiskey.

Richard Kellam, defense attorney, attempted to show that Ryan did not violate the law in as much as he did not make the sale and also pointed out that testimony failed to show that Fox knew the sales were made although it was pointed out that the State agents were admitted to the club by Fox upon presentation of a card obtained from a local hotel.

Two cases of liquor were noted in the establishment and upon questioning by P. W. Ackins, Commonwealth's Attorney, these cases were asserted to belong to a private individual who was planning a party the following evening.

Kellam noted an appeal in the Fox and Ryan cases to be heard in the Princess Anne Circuit Court in August.

Henry W. Smith was fined $350 for alleged operation of a bingo game, while Isidor Blawie also was fined $350 for permitting the game. Both received two-month suspended sentences.

Five others were fined on charges in connection with a game of chance at Seaside Park, as follows: Harris Bennett and Mrs. Ida Harris, operating a game, $250 fine and two-month suspended sentence each.

James Bowen, D. Kidd and W. H. Hester, gambling, $100 fine each.

Stimms Redwind, charged with permitting a "fortune" game, and William Allen Clements, charged as operator of the game, were fined $350 each and given a two-months suspended sentence each.

Other cases nolle prossed on Ackins' motion were Peggy Blawie, Ernest D. Hill, Arthur Lewis, Lewis Perry, Melvin B. Franklin and David B. Roberts.

The hearing of cases against five men arrested June 26 in a gambling raid at the Admiral Club in Princess Anne County was continued to next Friday.

Three Convicted Monday

Three other men, arrested in a raid the same night at the Dunes Club, were convicted Monday in hearings before Justice Reed. Otis Lee of Virginia Beach was fined $400 and given a two month suspended sentence, while Frank M. McCracken, of Lake Worth, Fla., was fined $150, and Joseph Gorman of Troy, N. Y., was fined $100.

The case against a fourth man of the group arrested at the Admiral Club — Arthur Gwynn Thomas of Ponte Verda Beach, Fla., was nolle prossed.

Humane Ass'n Appoints New Officer at Beach

At a meeting of the Princess Anne Humane Association in the Holt Motor Co. show room Tuesday evening, plans were made to secure the services of a humane officer who will be able to devote more of his time to the immediate problems of Virginia Beach.

Considerable complaint has been made of a pack of dogs running wild over the golf courses and in the section around 35 and 36 streets. Digging under fences and being particularly destructive and annoying to residents of that section. It is also understood that in at least on instance a household pet was killed by these roving dogs.

Schoen Resigns

Dr. Schoen, owner of the Pet Hospital in Oceana who has been acting as humane officer for the Town has asked to be relieved of this duty as his business at the hospital takes his entire time.

Mr. E. A. Holt, secretary, stated that the Humane Association has secured the services of H. A. Culpepper who operates kennels on the Military Highway, to act as humane officer for Virginia Beach. Anyone desiring his services will report to the Virginia Beach Police department and they will notify Mr. Culpepper. These kennels will also board dogs for the association.

Mrs. Spiegel Dies In N. Y. Hospital

A native of New York Mrs. Spiegel has resided at Virginia Beach with her husband for the past six years. They had an apartment at the Martha Washington. During the war years Mrs. Spiegel made many friends among military personnel stationed in this area, from whom she received letters from all over the world.

Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Peter, of New York, a sister, Mrs. Nellie Raff of Charlotte, N. C. and brother, Barclay Martin, of Battle Creek, Mich.

Services were held Thursday, July 17 in the Park West Chapel in New York.

Mrs. Walter Derrickson Dies

She was the former Miss Nancy Blades, of Elizabeth City, N. C.

June 1947 Bond Sales in Virginia Lower than 1946

Seven Millions in Bonds in June A total of $6,920,129 was invested in U. S. Savings Bonds by Virginians during June of this year, according to the official tabulation of sales. This was divided as follows between sales:

E's — $4,612,540; F's — $240,389; and G's — $2,067,200.

Sales figures for the same period in 1946 were as follows: E's — $6,561,185; F's — $338,161; and G's — $3,082,100.

While approximately half of the difference in sales between June 1946 and last month is explained by a sharp decline in military credits, the remaining difference of approximately a million and a half is not so readily explained.

In Princess Anne County the sales for June 1947 amounted to $15,738.50.

Mrs. M. A. Carps of Oceana left Thursday for Bradenton, Fla. to visit her brother Mr. H. J. Sheets and Mrs. Sheets.

Books Needed By Red Cross For Hospitals

Mrs. K. C. Johnson, chairman of Volunteer Services of the Princess Anne Chapter, American Red Cross, reports the completion and shipment of 183 women's wool capes. This number exceeds the quota on these articles by 83 garments. However, Mrs. Johnson states that there are still 150 garments to be made to fill another quota. Women's and children's dresses, which are to be machine made, and infant's shirts, which may be either machine or hand made. A sewing machine is at the Red Cross headquarters on Atlantic Avenue and the rooms are open each day if anyone wishes to give a little time to helping fill this quota. Any work may be taken home, Mrs. Johnson further stated.

Books Needed

Another urgent plea from Red Cross headquarters is for comic books and pocket mystery stories. This request comes from the Camp and Hospital Service committee. The books are needed for the convalescent wards in the Little Creek Dispensary and the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth. Any one having these books may leave them at the Red Cross headquarters or call Miss Pearl Duty, executive secretary at 938 and they will be called for.

Grumpy's Gardens Popular Out-Door Place to Dine

Eating out of doors is an American sport enjoyed by family groups and picnic lovers. Grumpy has glorified the outdoor eating by 'eye appeal and picnic food (as well as other kinds) that is par excellence.

An area adjoining his restaurant on Atlantic Ave. at 9th St. has been fenced in and the garden is made gay with gay colored beach umbrellas and tables to accommodate large or small parties.

The "piece de resistance" of all Virginia picnics is fried chicken. Grumpy has a special formula for frying his chickens which has met with loud acclaim from his patrons. Their outdoor foods are available.

Grumpy's Gardens is an innovation at Virginia Beach and is steadily gaining in popularity.

Public Meeting To Be Held In Cooke School Auditorium Mon.

Gas Plant Decision Beach Boy Scout Held by T'Anson For Further Study

Judge Lawrence W. T'Anson of the Portsmouth Court of Hastings, heard arguments by council for the residents of Pinewood Park and the Virginia Beach Gas Corporation for over two hours and a half Friday afternoon on the demurrer to an order restraining the town of Virginia Beach from allowing the erection of a gas plant in the Pinewood Section of Virginia Beach. Judge Floyd E. Kellam had disqualified himself to preside in the Princess Anne County Circuit Court in this case. After the lengthy controversy Judge T'Anson directed that all future arguments be reduced to writing and be presented in the form of briefs to be reviewed at his leisure.

Since its beginning residents of Pinewood section have sought to prevent the construction of a gas plant on a specific block of Pinewood Park. Demurrers have been filed by the residents and the Virginia Beach Gas Corp. and its president, R. A. Cassett. Pinewood Park residents have filed a bill in equity naming as defendants the Town of Virginia Beach, Clyde P. Nicholson, supervising engineer of the town; members comprising the zoning board of appeals of the town, the Virginia Beach Gas Corp. and its president, R. A. Cassett.

The complainants charge in a bill containing 30 separate items that "the action of the Town Council of February 12, 1947, (re-zoning a section of Block 8 of the Pinewood Park development to permit the erection of a gas storage plant and warehouse) results in piecemeal and block zoning which is discriminatory and invalid on its face; that is to say it plainly creates an exception to and variance of an existing zoning ordinance for the sole benefit of the defendant, Virginia Beach Gas Corp., which the Town Council had no power, right or authority to do, not for the general good."

The Virginia Beach Gas Corp., by its attorney, Willard R. Ashburn, filed a demurrer denying that the complainants have any cause of suit nor standing in court to prevent this defendants from using said property for a gas storage plant and warehouse.

The town of Virginia Beach is represented by Town Attorney Roy Smyth, while the complainants are represented by Robert Simpson and Lester Parsons.

The bill in equity was filed in the names of C. H. Driskill, Frank Gresham and Margaret Klepper suing "for themselves and for the benefit of all persons similarly situated who are owners of lots in the subdivision known as 'Pinewood Park'."

At the instigation of Mr. C. T. Whitehead, lifelong resident of Virginia Beach, a mass meeting of citizens of the community will be held in the W. T. Cooke school auditorium, Monday, July 21, at 8 p.m. This meeting is primarily for the purpose of discussing the serious erosion problem confronting property owners at the South end of the Beach and has the wholehearted support of the Hotel Association, business men and members of the Chamber of Commerce.

A study of the situation has recently been completed by the U.S. Army Engineers and their findings are in the office in Washington for study. Mr. Whitehead and other citizens feel that the serious condition of the beach needs immediate action and the meeting is called in hope that some solution may be arrived at for the building up of the sands and arresting the devastating inroads made on the beach by the surf.

Other Matters to be Discussed

Mr. Whitehead said that after the primary cause of the meeting has been attended to, the meeting will be open for discussion of other problems which residents may care to discuss.

J. T. Madry, owner of Madry Manor on 35th Street, states that there are several matters of paramount importance to cottage and hotel operators which he feels should be discussed and adds a plea for a large attendance at the meeting.

DRIVING TOURISTS AWAY

The volume of Virginia's post-war tourist business two years after the German surrender is not up to expectations. This situation is attributed by the State Chamber of Commerce to unfavorable reaction by visitors who report that our facilities for the comfort and convenience of our guests is not up to what they found in other states. Robert F. Nelson, experienced public relations counsel of the State Chamber says:

"To be brutally frank, the only conclusion that we can come to is that Virginia needs a good house-cleaning; that most of her roadside facilities, as well as many of her resorts, hotels, restaurants, tourist homes, inns and auto courts are dirty; that the food is below the standard; that the public demands if repeat business is to be encouraged (and it is being most kind in this understatement); and that the people who are employed in these industries are being charged with universal discourtesy, indifference, and an attitude of 'take it and like it, or go somewhere else.'"

Mr. Nelson suggests better food and much cleaner places in which to eat; training courses for cooks and waiters; concerted action by operators of motor courts in preparation and enforcement of a code promising clean, comfortable, safe and well ventilated facilities for the public; improvement of gasoline stations with emphasis on sanitary facilities; improvement of rest rooms by all public carriers.

Mr. Nelson's suggestions are excellent. We would like to see concerted action by all who cater to tourists in removing the stigma that is being put on the State by those places which fail or refuse to co-operate. But we do not believe the State Legislature can escape some responsibility in this matter. It is useless to appropriate money to advertise the tourist attractions of the State so long as filthy conditions in some restaurants, filling stations and rest rooms operated by public carriers disgust the visitor and tend to drive him away.

There are some excellent restaurants along our roads, as there are many excellent, well conducted tourist courts. They deserve something better than to be grouped in the public mind with filthy food preparation and doubtful morals. There is a job for the State Health Department as well as for the State Police. The Legislature should give the go-ahead signal so both can start promptly on a job they know ought to be done.

WHERE ARE ALL THE BILLIONS

After the United States won the second World War, we promptly took the lead to win the peace. All the European Nations seem to have the "gimmies". Our National debt is at least $300 billion more than it was during the administration of Calvin Coolidge. We are committed to the "Marshall Plan" which will probably cost $20 billion for the next five years. We talk about Federal "economy" lightly, as though it is something we could pick out of the air.

The whole national economy is upset and even the most extravagant Senators and Representatives are asking: "Where is all this money coming from?"

"ONE WORLD" IS NOT ENOUGH

The attitude of the American public is overwhelmingly opposed to Russia and its schemers. On the other side of the world, Russia hasn't given an inch in efforts to re-establish Peace throughout the world. How can the United States and Russia live chummi-ly in the same World. The opinion grows in Washington that we should bid goodbye to Russia.

Methodist Church

The Official Board of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church will meet for an important business meeting on Friday, July 13th at 8 o'clock at the church. It has been announced by W. O. Beasley chairman.

Reports will be made by the building committee on the progress of the new parish house, and also reports and plans of the building fund committee will be presented. It is reported that the new building is expected to be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the new church year the first of November.

IT MIGHT BE SO

The wise Chamber of Commerce of the United States still insists that "business needs for tax relief are heightened by signs of trends for recessions." And a lot of the "good guessers" from one of the newspapers men of Washington, are thinking the same way. The big question is "Where is the money coming from," while we continue spending and lending American dollars all over the world.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh.

The Picnic Was a "Hug" Success!

Our local Wild Life League went on a picnic Saturday, and I went along to cover it for the Clarion. Monday, folks kept stopping me, and saying: "Must have gotten out of hand, that picnic!"

"Nonsense," I says. "It was mighty pleasant and congenial. Just beer and hot dogs, cheese and cider." And then they show me the headline reading: "WILD WIFE PICNIC HUG SUCCESS."

Of course it was Elmer, my typewriter, who had made the misprints: But in my face red! It's only hecause folks are so temperate and well-behaved in our town, that they could afford to take the whole thing as a joke.

From where I sit, even a newspaper editor's entitled to a few mistakes. And since I reported that they served a moderate beverage like beer, I'm sure nobody thinks the picnic was the least bit wild, or anything but a huge success—and I mean huge!

Early Pictures of Beach on Display

WAY BACK WHEN

Herbert N. White

Mrs. Lucien Douglas Starke has uncovered some extremely interesting photographs which were taken by her husband, the late Colonel Starke, when he was a young man and a summer resident of Virginia Beach. At that period, 1892, not more than a dozen cottages were on the Beach, a fact which is borne out by one of the old prints.

When the picture was made of the Chapel-by-the-Sea, this wooden edifice was on the ocean front at 18th Street. Some forty years later it was moved back to Atlantic Avenue, and the present Calles Episcopal Church was erected in its place.

Another photograph, entitled "Awaiting the Fish Boat", is of an immense hog gazing seaward. In the background is the old Sea-Back Lifesaving Station. Both the name and the building have long since been changed and no doubt the poster, too.

The photo of the old Princess Anne Hotel was snapped from Atlantic Avenue. This famous hotel, located between what is now 15th and 16th streets, was built in 1888 and burned in 1907. The hotel was a social center for Tidewater Virginia, as well as a popular resort for discriminating guests from far and near.

The figurehead of the ill-fated Norwegian bark Dictator is pictured on the lawn of the Princess Anne. This is "Miss Dictator" as she appeared in her second season at Virginia Beach, fifty-five years ago. Recently, the aging dame received a beauty treatment and alvery raiment from our councilmanic operator and modiste. Although our maritime lady has lost her schoolgirl complexion, she still retains her girlish figure according to Scandinavian specifications — but a bit buxom for a Miss America.

An early print of Lake Holly shows that from this body of fresh water a canal was cut to Lighthorn Bay in an attempt to salt the waters of the lake and discourage the breeding of mosquitoes. However, the rise and fall of the tide in the bay proved insufficient to effect the waters of the lake, so the flume, shown in an accompanying photo, was built to connect the lake with the ocean.

The flume was a boarded sluice which allowed the wash of the ocean breakers to force through into the lake. Unfortunately, the injections of brine failed to break up the homelife of the mosquitoes, so the old theory that the insect could not exist even in quiet stretches of brackish water was exploded.

Another old photograph indicates what the ashions for 1892 were in beach attire. On the promenade in front of the old Princess Anne is one particular sent in a cutaway coat and a tricky straw "kitty". On the sands is an outstanding dame in a long, lace frock and a spreading, black hat. The only breach of etiquette evidenced in the gay throng is displayed by a vulgar cad with his coat on his arm.

The picture of bathers in the surf is noted by the absence of bathing beauties.

These pictures may be seen at Melholland Real Estate Office on Pacific Avenue between 16 & 17 Streets.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

INDOOR SNAPSHOOTING

Story-telling pictures like this one are welcomed by those in the Service and are easy to make.

MOST amateurs think about making snapshots outdoors in nice, sunny weather but when winter arrives—well, too many, unfortunately, relegate their cameras to the closet shelf, or a drawer, to hibernate until some special occasion brings them out for action.

In these days of film shortage, due to the requirements of our government, that is all right to a certain extent. We should conserve film but that does not mean that we should stop taking pictures. Shooting promiscuously is wasting film but taking purposeful pictures is certainly justified, especially if they are for those in the Service.

Winter is an ideal time for taking pictures indoors and, carefully planned, they can be made to tell those in the Service a real story of friends and relatives back home. Suppose you wrote in a letter, "Jimmy may be much too young to qualify as a bomber pilot but he has gone all out for making model planes of every description. Incidentally, Granddad is getting quite enthusiastic too and is becoming chief adviser in this plane building business." That's real, homey news but think how much more it would mean to brother Jack in the Service if you enclosed a snapshot to illustrate that bit of news.

No, it doesn't take a lot of expensive equipment to take pictures indoors. You really shouldn't strive for dramatic lighting because those in the Service prefer simple snapshots—not overdone attempts at photographic art. Two ordinary electric lamps—a 150-watt lamp at the left of the camera and a 200-watt lamp at the right—will give you soft shadows with plenty of detail, and no harsh contrasts.

That is what might be called a basic or fundamental lighting. If you want to use an extra bulb—perhaps to keep the background light in tone, or placed rather high up and pointed down to give more light from above—why that's all right. But, even with just two lights—one 200-watt and one 150-watt, in inexpensive reflectors—you can get enough illumination for a quick time-exposure with a box camera. The proper distance from lamp to subject would be 3 1/2 to 4 feet, and the camera, of course, should be loaded with high speed film. If you have a focusing type camera with variable shutter speeds and lens apertures, you can take a snapshot at 1/10 of a second by setting the aperture at f/8. With this setting, your lamp should be about 3 1/2 feet from your subject. For a time exposure, or even at 1/10 of a second, you should place your camera on something solid. With your lens aperture set at f/4.5 you could snap the picture at 1/25 of a second. Just remember that your shutter speed is dependent upon the number of lights used, the distance from the lights to your subject and the lens aperture chosen.

Try some indoor shots to send to friends and relatives in the Service. Snapshots from home give them a lift.

A book you ought to study - TONIGHT!

IF YOU HAVE a checking account in a bank, we have a suggestion.

Get out your bank book tonight. Run your eye over the deposits you've made in the last year or two.

Very likely you'll be surprised at the total of those deposits... surprised at how much you've put in, yet how little you've saved out of it.

Perhaps, too, you'll realize how much you need a plan for systematic saving out of your income—regular and automatic saving, month after month after month.

There are two such plans available to you today... one if you're on a payroll, another if you're not.

The first is the Payroll Savings Plan for buying U. S. Savings Bonds through automatic deductions from wages or salary.

The second is the Bond-a-Month Plan for buying these Bonds through automatic deductions from your checking account in the bank.

Whichever plan you adopt, you'll find it the simplest, easiest way to save money for future wants and needs. The Bonds are one of the safest investments in the world... and they pay back, at maturity, $4 for every $3 you put in them today.

Save the easy, automatic way—with U.S. Savings Bonds

How to Care for Your Baby's Food

It is the wish of every parent to keep his child healthy and happy. One assurance of this natural desire is to provide the infant with clean and wholesome food. In these days of modern conveniences this is hardly a problem because refrigeration and the products of modern food industry practically within everyone's standards.

After a baby is born, all learning progresses slowly and in gradual stages. So, too, in his physical make-up his body is not able to throw off infection as readily as an adult. Slowly through the first years of life he acquires a resistance to disease. Until that time his food and surroundings should be scrupulously clean and free from bacteria. The most important fact to remember in the care of baby's food is this—keep it clean, keep it cool and keep it covered. In formula feedings the formula should be stored in the refrigerator in thoroughly washed sterile nursing bottles protected with sterile covers, stoppers or caps. This same attention should be practiced in caring for baby's sterile drinking water until ready for use. Just as in the milk feedings, the water is heated to the lukewarm stage before serving it to the baby.

To preserve the maximum content of Vitamin C in the infant's tomato and orange juices, as much air contact as possible should be eliminated. The open end of the tomato juice container may be tightly wrapped with clean waxed paper or protected with other types of clean covers. For better flavor and more Vitamin C content, squeezed orange juice should not be stored longer than twenty-four hours. When the same storage precautions as taken with tomato juice containers should be employed. If half an orange is left over it may be set on a clean saucer with cut surface down.

As for Vitamin D sources contained in oil, refrigeration is of utmost importance to prevent rancidity and to retain maximum vitamin content. Before placing these containers in the refrigerator wipe off the excess oil clinging to the outside with clean paper.

Commercially prepared strained cereals, vegetables, meats and desserts have been a boon to mothers for the last twenty-five years. However, in the care of the remaining portions of strained spinach, carrots and the other canned foods, mothers still observe the old fallacy of emptying canned foods into a container other than tin for storage. This is not necessary because the container and foods are sterile. All one need do is cover the original container with clean, waxed paper or other clean cover for storage in the refrigerator. Covering the food will prevent drying out and vitamin retention and prevent absorption of flavors. In this manner the baby's food may be kept for two or three days. It is far better to use the original container for storage, because the dish into which the food might be emptied may be far from sterile. Some acid foods when stored in an open tin tend to dissolve iron which gives a metallic taste to the food. This condition is not harmful nor dangerous to health.

Cans with dents or rust marks are safe unless they show signs of leakage. If leaks are present, do not use the food. Swelled tins are also outlaid; these swells denote the presence of a gas caused by food spoilage. Unopened tins of baby foods are best stored in a cool dry cellar or closet. Avoid storage near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces or kitchen ranges.

Tuck To Support Leeke Stand With Troopers

According to statement by Gov. William Tuck, yesterday, State Troopers will be kept at Virginia Beach as long as it is necessary to aid Mayor Leeke in enforcing the laws of the State regarding gambling.

Coincidental with the resignation of Chief of Police Clarence E. Hobeck and the appointment of a successor, several establishments at the beach which had been closed for gambling activities were reported and in operation again, according to information from the office of Mayor H. Warfield Leeke.

Several weeks ago Mayor Leeke had issued orders for the closing of these establishments in conformity with the law of the State of Virginia. No action was taken by local authorities and after a limited time Governor Tuck sent State officers to enforce the law. These officers closed certain establishments and fined their owners and operators for gambling.

Cognizant of this reopening, Mayor Leeke sent a letter to P. W. Ackles, Commonwealth's Attorney, reminding him of the fact that as Commonwealth's Attorney it was his duty to prosecute violators of the laws of the Commonwealth, saying in part, "I have positive instructions from the Governor of the State of Virginia to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth, an sin view of the fact that the reopening of these places for the purpose of gambling is a violation of the State law, I am calling it to your attention so that the proper action may be taken."

The latter further stated that the council of Virginia Beach had accepted the resignation of the Chief of Police, Clarence Hobeck at a called meeting, Friday, July 18 and that a successor had been appointed to assume office as of August 1.

CHIEF CLARENCE HOBECK GIVES UP BEACH TOWN POLICE POST

A letter of resignation from Chief of Police, Clarence E. Hobeck, was read by H. A. Holt, chairman of Police and Fire committee at a special call meeting of the Town Council Friday evening, July 18.

Mayor H. Warfield Leeke was not present at the meeting inasmuch as he said he was not notified until after 4:30 p.m. of the day of the meeting and was informed by Town Clerk R. A. Jones that the meeting, Jones supposed, was called for the purpose of discussing a solution to the low water pressure in the Town. Mayor Leeke informed Mr. Jones that a previous engagement which could not be broken at that late date would detain him from the meeting. However, the water pressure problem was not mentioned at the call meeting.

Ill Health

In his letter of resignation Chief Hobeck stated that he was resigning because his health would not permit him to continue the work and he had been advised by his physician that a complete rest was advisable. His resignation was accepted upon recommendation of the H. A. Holt, chairman of the Police and Fire committee of the Council. Hobeck was appointed Chief of Police in 1942, succeeding Bill Dodson. Mr. Holt then announced the decision of the committee in the appointment of R. E. Thompson, of Oceana. Mr. Holt stated that the committee had considered appointing some member of the present police force to fill the vacancy but upon second consideration decided an appointment entirely outside the present force would be more expedient. Thompson, who comes from Mecklenburg County, has had 12 years of police experience. Serving first with his county force then holding a position with the State Police and at the time of his appointment was an inspector with the State Division of Motor Vehicles.

H. A. Holt, stated that Mr. Hobeck's resignation became effective immediately and that Lieutenant Clarence Barco will serve as temporary Chief until August first, when it is expected the new Chief will take over the duties. It is understood that Mr. Thompson has been out of town and Mr. Holt has not as yet received a reply to the appointment.

Chief Hobeck stated that at present his plans are to spend a few days in the country until his daughter returns from Girl Scout camp and then he and his family will motor to the Valley of Virginia to visit several members of the Shore Patrol who were stationed in this area during the war.

In the fall Mr. Hobeck plans to concentrate on his plumbing business, with the idea of enlargement of building and the addition of plumbing supplies.

Whitehead Named Chairman of Group To Study Erosion

Ppon motion of H. A. Holt, C. T. Whitehead was appointed chairman of a committee for further study of the beach erosion problem, at a special call meeting of the Town Council Wednesday evening.

The meeting was primarily called for an informal round-table discussion of a proposed building project for Virginia Beach, which Norfolk interests are promoting.

Prior to taking up this matter, Mr. Holt, desirous of bring the erosion matter before the council attempted to overrule Mayor Leeke's insistence that all matters pertaining to Town business must be a matter of record and minutes must be taken, according to Town rule, and could not be discussed at an informal round-table. Attorney Smith ruled that at the request of three council members the meeting could be changed to a special call meeting of the council and matters pertaining to Town Business could be discussed and incorporated in minutes. This action was taken.

Holt's proposal, unanimously adopted by a full attendance of council members, was the appointment of Mr. Whitehead to head the 14-man committee to study erosion conditions and recommend to the Council at a later date a physical and financial solution to the problem. Mr. Holt's proposed committee included Town Engineer, Clyde Nicholson and A. W. Petty, W. F. Crockett, Garret Smith, Frank Shean and R. L. Perry.

Other members of the committee will include three members from the Better Business Association, three from the Chamber of Commerce and three from the Hotel Association.

Mr. Holt asked for a report from the committee within thirty days and Mr. Whitehead in accepting the chairmanship stated, "This is a mighty big order, but I will do the best I can."

L. G. Throm First Beach Resident With Auto Phone

Mobile telephone service for automobiles and other mobile units became a reality in the Norfolk area this week. The new service is offered customers initially under an experimental license secured by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia from the Federal Communications Commission. Service however, is being provided under regular commercial conditions.

Twenty-two mobile radiotelephone units have already been installed in customers' automobiles or trucks. L. G. Throm of Cavalier Shores, is the first resident of Va. Beach to have installed this service. Also, the Telephone Company has equipped five of its vehicles with the new sets. The prompt response to the offering has been so great that the Telephone Company has already plans to secure and install a second radio channel so as to take care of additional applicants.

Singer's Jewelry Store Goods To Be Auctioned Today

Singer's Jewelry store on Atlantic Ave. and the first jewelry store to open at the Beach, has been padlocked by the Internal Revenue Service and all property belonging to the owners, Louis and Muriel Singer in the Jewelry store will be sold at public auction Friday, July 25 at 10 a.m. This seizure of government agents was for "non-payment of assessed taxes due, provided by Section 3190, Revised Statutes of the United States."

A notice on the door of the establishment at 1905 Atlantic Avenue states that all persons having jewelry in the store for repair may secure their possessions before the sale Friday morning.

ANNEXATION OF NORTH BEACH SUGGESTER TO FINANCE JETTIES

In spite of the torrential down-pour several hundred citizens of Virginia Beach attended the mass meeting called at the request of C. T. Whitehead for Monday evening, July 21, at the W. T. Cooke school.

The primary motive of the assembly was to attempt to arrive at a solution for correction of the erosion of the beach from the South end of the boardwalk past 19th Street. Mr. Whitehead was appointed chairman of the meeting with E. H. Church acting as secretary.

Treasure Seeking Beachcombers Hit 'Pay Dirt' Here

The feverish beachcombing activities of life guards along the shore between 18th and 19th St. seems to have come to a halt, for the time being at least. Sands have washed in and covered up the clay bank on which several youths found over $200 in small coins over the last week end.

Clay Perry, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Perry of 19th Street was the first to discover the handful of coins which led to the feverish activities of other life guards in the vicinity, and the uncovering of the hoards of coins and small pieces of jewelry. A Mury High School ring lost 20 years ago was found and returned to a resident of Oceana who had lost it.

Beach erosion had washed away the sand leaving a solid clay bank on which the coins rested and at high tide the swirling water pulled away tons of sand to reveal the coins, heavier than the sand, resting on the solid clay bank. How it got there or where it all came from is still a matter of conjecture. The fact remains that six life guards are several dollars richer for the find. When the tide is right, Perry said, work had to be done speedily. A system was inaugurated, H. C. Perry Sr. wishing to aid the youths by beach combers of heavy mesh wire. Beach cover No. 1 digging with a large shovel, dumped the sand in the sieve held by No. 2. After this sand was washed away the coins left in the sieve were then handed to No. 3 who placed them in a large jar and when this jar became full the No. 3 man handed the jar to Mrs. Perry on the sea wall who replaced it with another empty jar. In order to catch the high tide it was necessary to work after dark on several occasions.

Again Mrs. Perry came to their aid with flash lights suspended over the boardwalk on string directly over the working space of the boys. Many of the coins are corroded and battered by the sea but all are spendable and after all that is what matters to the six lucky young beachcomber life guards.

A Financial Problem

How to finance any project of such an expensive nature then came to the fore.

Garrett Smith made the recommendation for the annexation proceedings in the midst of long discussions on how to raise $750,000 to finance the engineering project on erecting jetties. Smith asserted that residents of the North Virginia Beach section were getting all the benefits of the town, adding that "the millions of dollars we are pouring into Princess Anne County would solve all our problems."

Lynnhaven

The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County line starts at Fifteenth Street, it was pointed out at the meeting. Other than the decision again to put the erosion problem up to the Town Council, no action was taken at the meeting. H. A. Holt, H. E. Halstead, Fred A. Haycox, W. W. McClanahan, Jr. and W. F. Patton, members of the Town Council were present.

Observing that the five councilmen were among the audience, Smith commented, "The members of the Town Council here tonight must know by now the sentiment of the section-section of Virginia Beach citizens and if they can't find the answer to this erosion business, we might as well get a new council that can."

Clyde Nicholson, Town engineer, was once again asked to explain the findings on the U. S. Engineers who have been making a survey of the conditions surrounding the washing away of the sands and eliminating the beach in certain sections of the beach. Mr. Nicholson said he had not come to the meeting to make a speech but to learn something, graciously acquiesced and once again outlined the proposed system of groins or jetties suggested by the government engineers, the plans or recommendations of which are now in the hands of the Erosion Board in Washington for consideration. Mr. Nicholson explained the system as extending 300 feet into the ocean for the purpose of breaking the steady wash which is carrying away the sand. These jetties will be placed 600 feet apart and will extend the length of the beach necessary to be effective as to stabilizing the beach. An estimated cost of $750,000 was mentioned, one third to be paid by the Federal Government if the Erosion Board approves the project and feels that the Town can pay the remaining two thirds.

Mr. Cherry, one of the Government engineers making the investigation was present and answered questions from the audience. These questions were answered as to his own opinion and not as to the board's.

Stone Breakwater Proposed

C. T. Whitehead, whose idea it was to call the meeting, then proposed a plan which would tend to bring in revenue to support the project and was of a slightly different nature. Mr. Whitehead propounded the theory that two stone jetties at the Southern boundary line of the Beach be built in such manner that fishing and amusement facilities would be at the end of each jetty and a boat harbor between them, both of which would be revenue producing as well as tend to break the onslaught of the waters in such a manner that the beach would build itself back to a more normal condition.

Considerable discussion followed by remarks by Mr. Holland, a resident of the Beach for 62 years as well as being its first mayor, and Captain Barnes, of the first Coast Guard station at Virginia Beach. Each explained the action of wind and waves on the shore line but no one could offer a solution to the present problem.

'Common Glory' off to Good Start

Act I, Scene II at the Palace of King George III in the year 1775

Williamsburg, Va., July 24, 1947 —Paul Green's symphonic drama "The Common Glory"—the dramatic vehicle through which Virginia speaks to the Nation of the early days of its founding, opened last Thursday to a capacity audience in the spacious amphitheatre beside Matoika Lake at Williamsburg.

From the first brilliant court scene in the Palace of George III in the year 1775 to the final scene overlooking the bluffs of Richmond, the drama carries the saga of America through the Revolution—the deep voice of the Narrator explaining and blending together each quickly moving scene.

The main part in the play, the character of Thomas Jefferson, is played by the young Virginia born actor William W. Wmthers, ably supported by a cast of more than 100, including the choir of specially matched voices, largely composed of members of the Williamsburg and Mary choir, described by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, foremost drama critic of the American stage as "one of Williamsburg's finest treasures."

Of the drama, Mr. Atkinson said, even in its early stages "it is already an improvement over 'The Lost Colony'." Paul Green's companion piece which has been acted for a decade of summers at Roanoke Island. In this story of writing and drama composing, Mr. Green has mastered a style which is new from music.

Being also a humorist he has not forgotten to introduce a comic character, Cephas Sicklemore, homespun clowning is thoroughly merican and traditional."

Mr. Atkinson, who was among the many prominent "first-nighters" said "part of the pleasure 'The Common Glory' provides comes from sitting with 2,600 people in a very and comfortable amphitheatre facing a broad platform with a well-designed brick stage. Incidentally the natural acoustics are excellent. Amid the sober loveliness of this natural scene, the performance has been imaginatively staged by people who understand the medium and believe in the community value of the enterprise."

Methodist

The Reverend E. Leon Smith, pastor of the Haygood-Lynnhaven Methodist Church, announced that the afternoon services at the Lynnhaven Methodist Church on Little Neck Road, will be resumed August 10th. No service July 27th and August 3rd due to absence of the pastor to attend, as one of the delegates from the Norfolk District, the National Methodist Rural Life Conference, July 29-31 in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Mrs. R. L. Grumman of Chapel Hill, N. C. is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark at their home on 16th Street.

WH OBTAINED ON THE GREEN LIGHT?

Gambling at the Beach has been on the quiet since Governor Tuck sent State police to make raids and arrests. Officers of the State Law closed their doors and paid their fines. (In spite of the fact that the Town Treasurer has accepted license fees on disused permits for operation to many of them). From all outward appearances they took their medicine.

On Friday, July 18, Chief of Police, Clarence Hobeck tendered his resignation as Police Chief of Virginia Beach. His intentions were hardly noised abroad before, gaming places had opened their doors once more. The question is now being asked, "Who flashed the Green Light?"

Certainly Chief Hobeck, whose resignation was effective immediately, according to information from H. A. Holt, had no part in the re-opening of operations and in view of the letter of Mayor Leeke to Commonwealth's Attorney P. W. Ackiss, requesting aid in enforcing the law the mayor did not authorize action. As we go to press no arrests have been made so who is responsible for the "go" signal?

In as much as the committee of the Council in charge of police matters has presumed to handle affairs of this department without benefit of the mayor, the natural conclusion is that on the shoulders of this committee falls the responsibility of actions of members of police and fire departments in permitting law infractions or in upholding the law.

I wish to express sincere thanks in behalf of my son Thomas R. Currie and myself for all contributions which helped to make his (Thomas) trip to France Possible.

Mrs. C. E. Douglas

FIRE PREVENTION
PAID DIVIDENDS

What careful planning against the possibility of fire can accomplish was dramatically demonstrated in Los Angeles harbor in late June when a tanker which had just taken aboard nearly 3,000,000 gallons of fuel blew up at the dock.

Billowing flames instantly spread to near-by shore installations. The intense heat blistered paint on several huge oil tanks on a 30-acre tank farm belonging to the Shell Oil Company. Had the tanks blown up, devastation would have wreaked through the entire heavily-populated Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor area.

However, the tanks were equipped with waterpumps on top, and these prevented further explosion. Thus, one precaution was responsible for saving lives and tremendous property damage.

This is the way scientific fire prevention stands between the community and catastrophe. The kind of planning which led to the installation of protective devices on oil storage tanks can be applied to every home and every business. In most instances, adequate precautions are simple, and require little time or money. The man who fails to plan against fire is inviting disaster.

"Not Responsible For Wife's Debts"

A young man came rushing into the Clarion office the other day and wanted me to print an ad—"right quick"—saying he won't be responsible for his wife's debts from now on, as he's leaving her for good immediately.

I allowed as how the forms were all closed up, and it was too late to take his ad. He says: "All right, Monday then"—and we agreed on Monday.

Of course, the forms weren't closed. But I had kind of an inkling of what might happen. Then Sunday he phones me, and says, kind of sheepishly: "You can forget that ad. Me and the missus have everything all patched up. And we're having a friendly glass of beer, right now."

From where I sit, if you give folks time enough to think things over, those hasty quarrels that come so often from misunderstanding will give way to tolerance and common sense.

"Be prepared" is a good motto for the good old summer-time, when guests are apt to drop in unexpectedly. So here are some delicious dishes you can fix at your leisure and keep in your refrigerator for such emergencies.

ICE CREAM

This chocolate ice cream made with rich WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK from the A&P is grand to have on hand. Shave 2 squares unsweetened chocolate into top of double boiler. Add 1 cup WHITE HOUSE MILK and 16 whole marshmallows. Cook over boiling water till well blended; cool and add 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Whip 1 cup chilled WHITE HOUSE MILK till stiff; fold into mixture. Pour into cold freezing tray and freeze at coldest setting. When partially frozen, stir well and continue freezing. Serves 6.

SIMPLE SANDWICHES

Sandwiches make perfect after-the-moment snacks. ... and MARVEL SANDWICH BREAD makes perfect sandwiches. Guaranteed fresh daily, every loaf gives you plenty of thin, smooth-spreadable slices. You'll find this thrifty bread only at A&P. And what a find it is!

FROSTY FAVORITE

I don't think there's a more refreshing warm weather drink than rich, tangy A&P GRAPE JUICE mixed with an equal quantity of ginger-ale. And this heat beater looks as if it came straight from the North Pole when it's served, well iced, in glasses with frosted rims. To frost, let the rims stand 1 minute in a saucer containing 1/4" strained lemon juice, then 1 minute in a plate containing 1/4" sifted powdered sugar. ... and, being careful not to jar the sugared rims, store the glasses in my refrigerator till the sugar sets. Inviting as an iced!

SALAD STANDBY

6 for lunch? Cook an 8-oz. package of A&P's ANN PAGE ELBOW MACARONI (see package directions); drain; chill; add 1 tsp. salt, 2 quartered tomatoes, 1 medium onion (chopped), 1/2 green pepper (chopped), 1 hard-cooked egg, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 head Boston lettuce, pepper and paprika. Toss lightly.

Seaside Park To Present Aerialists

A trio of aerialists working 100 feet in the air and defying death in their every movement will be featured at Seaside Park July 28.

Two of the principals who make up the Three Fearless Stars are girls. They are just as proficient in the art of dare devilry as their male companions.

The lofty rigging used by the Fearless Stars supports a variety of complicated paraphernalia to enable them to perform gymnastic and acrobatic stunts. Working in unison and singly they head, hand and foot stands on flimsy poles which sway in a circular motion beneath their weight.

The fearless stars are just what their name implies since they use no nets or safety devices of any kind. Working 100 feet in the air one mistake, even a small one, could be fatal. When performing duplicate stunts in unison they must depend upon each others perfection in performing.

One of the most thrilling acts of their routine has to do with their performances on trapezes which are anchored near the top of the rigging. Besides doing ordinary balancing on the trapezes which are kept continuously in motion, the Fearless Stars balance on their heads while maintaining their equilibrium.

Misses Polly Vandeventer, Harriet Wilcox, Charlotte Cohn, Emily Whaley, Rosemary Ashby, and Mary Perkins Traugott left last week by motor to spend two weeks in Canada.

I HAVE BEEN RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH AFTER SUFFERING DIABETES MILLITUS

My Recovery from Diabetes Mellitus is due to an articles I read in the Virginian-Pilot several months ago regarding Mr. W. T. Bailey and Mr. J. W. Lightfoot and other reputable Norfolk residents who had recovered from the same disease after completing a course of Chiropractic Treatments. Read my statement below which I give freely, without compensation, but solely to aid any other sufferer of Diabetes Mellitus who has given up hope.

My name is Willis H. Wood, I reside at 2013 King Street, Portsmouth, Virginia. I am forty-five years old and am employed as a boat builder in the Norfolk Navy Yard. Until December, 1945, my experience with doctors was very limited, as I had always enjoyed better than average health, but in the early fall of that year it became evident that, although my duties were actually lighter than usual, the job was more difficult to perform. At the end of the day I was completely exhausted. Later I began to have cramps in my legs which at first I accepted lightly and joked about the fact that I was getting old. When my eyesight, however, became affected and it was difficult for me to see clearly enough to do my work properly I reluctantly admitted that I was ill. I went to see one of Portsmouth's leading medical physicians. A complete physical and chemical examination disclosed that I had Diabetes Mellitus and since my condition was very critical I was ordered to the hospital immediately so that I could be given the appropriate amount of insulin and the correct diet. I was informed that it would be necessary for me to continue with the insulin and diet the rest of my life. My blood analysis showed 500 milligrams of sugar (four times the normal amount). I was hospitalized for 12 days, during which time it was determined that my condition required 115 units of insulin daily, 45 units to be taken in the morning, 45 units at noon and 25 units in the evening.

After reviewing my situation, I sank into a deeper state of mental depression—here I was suffering from an allegedly incurable disease. Then, too, a well known insurance firm cancelled the disability section of my policy. Luckily for me, a few friends urged that I take chiropractic treatments since they had been used in successfully overcoming Diabetes Mellitus. I listened with much skepticism for I had the utmost confidence in my medical physician who had told me that my condition was incurable.

After debating with myself for some time I decided to investigate Chiropractic, and on February 4, 1946, I went to the offices of Drs. Bybee, Bybee & Wright in Norfolk, Va., where I was examined, x-rayed and was told there was every evidence that my condition originated in my spinal column and that certain vertebrae or backbones were not in their normal position. This resulted in pressure on motor nerves, thereby rendering said nerves incapable of transmitting the necessary impulses to the pancreas which in turn caused subnormal functioning of the gland and a deficient secretion of normal insulin to my blood stream. A blood test at this time by an independent Norfolk Laboratory showed that in spite of my diet and insulin my blood sugar was still in excess of the normal. On February 7, 1946, I was told to disregard the prescribed diet and was given a more liberal one. It was explained that my insulin intake would be decreased in proportion to the increase in the ability of my pancreas to function.

Then followed another period of mental depression. People ridiculed me. They said that I was wasting my time and money. A medical officer at the Navy Yard dispensary said I was a victim of quackery. My only encouragement came from my immediate family and from other patients who were taking the same kind of treatment.

Regular tests showed that I was improving and soon my recovery was so rapid that the insulin dosage was reduced by as much as ten units a week. The noon injection was the first to be discarded and later the evening injection was eliminated. On February 6, 1947, I discontinued the use of insulin altogether and began eating the foods which I had been deprived of so long. My blood sugar on April 5, 1947, was 106 milligrams, which is normal.

It is hoped that this experience will serve as a guide to others who suffer from diabetes and that it will help them to understand that they are not necessarily compelled to depend upon insulin injections for their existence. It is also hoped that the medical profession will probe further into the cause and treatment. I hold no malice toward my medical doctor, for I know that it was with the utmost sincerity that he informed me that my condition was incurable. This is the generally accepted opinion in the medical profession.

The correction in my case was brought about by the elimination of the cause of the disease by chiropractic.

The above is given of my own free will, without compensation. In making this statement I mean no inducement was made to me by the offer of money or free services or anything. I am making same for whatever good I may do for suffering humanity.

WILLIS H. WOOD,

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 29th day of April, 1947.
